

Region on Film – Restoration Notes

Films come into the archive in all sorts of conditions. Before they are available for viewing by our public and commercial users, they need to be transferred on to Digital Video. It is our aim to maintain the integrity of the original but sometimes changes need to be made such as the restoration of colour and the removal of damaged sections. For this DVD, we present films in two different forms: as edited versions with music prepared by us (Disc One) and as they came into the archive (Disc Two). Our edited versions have been re-graded where necessary and edits have been cleaned. We have avoided the over-use of paint tools. The original transfers originate either from professional Digital Betacam or Betacam SP or from our own in-house transfers onto DVCam so quality will vary from film to film.
